“ Oh my sweet Aunt Do. I can remember all the years when I was just a kid all our families used to gather together at Grandma Duck's house most holidays. One year, I think it was Christmas, I had shaved my legs using my Dad's razor and cut a gap out of my shin. Had to go with a bandage on my leg. Aunt Do asked what happened and when I told her she was not a happy lady! She proceeded to let me know right then and there that I was way too young to be shaving my legs! She was totally right. Wished for years that I never started that young but it is what it is. I was so embarrassed more so that it was a disappointment to her. I will always remember her shy smile and that little laugh of hers. Truly believe she is in the presence of her King!

“ Oh my goodness...so many memories of this precious lady. The many times I heard her sing in that heavenly language. She stood at the foot of my daddy's bed when he was leaving this world praying and singing in tongues. She was a precious, Godly woman and I will miss her.
